WORK EXPERIENCE

10/2016–Present

Web Developer

Solinet
Largo do Infante Santo, Sala 15, 2005-246 Santarém (Portugal)

Daily I deal with many challenges. I identify what my team needs, I conceive the ideas, and I go on to implement them.

I have as main functions, the development of interfaces of the applications or websites that we have as objectives. I use Sketch and Adobe Photoshop extensively, although I rarely use Figma or other applications like Affinity Design.

I also passed the development of the Fron-End code, which is what we normally program in React, Vue or simply Javascript "vanilla".

Many times I transpose the client side to the server side with the help of .net Core/C #. Regarding the database, depending on the preference of the client, work with SQL, Linq or MySQL.

Over the time I have participated in several projects. I highlight essentially two of them in which I participated. The first, an e-commerce project, a web application, in which I did the requirements survey to develop it (UX). I designed the user interfaces (UI) and in React I programmed the client side of the application. I helped the back-end production team, using .net Core/C # and Linq.

The second project that most "marked" me, because having a close connection with the theme, resided in the development of a web application too, as in the first case. A platform for the administrative management of sports elements, inventory management and billing. In this project, the languages used were identical to those of the first case, except that in React's place, Vue was used.

Knowledge and practice of languages:
HTML5;
CSS3;
SCSS, SASS;
Javascript, Jquery, React, Vue, Angular, RESTful API, Axios, Gatsby;
.Net Core/C#;
SQL, Linq, MySQL;
Git;
Gulp, Webpack;
Sketch, Invision, Adobe Photoshop, Adobe XD, Figma.
